Investment Universe

Relative to corporate credit-focused interval funds, SGSIX focuses on mortgage and consumer credit securities and loans which provide:

Differentiated Default Exposures: Residential, commercial, consumer, and asset-backed credit are driven by distinct collateral and borrower fundamentals, providing diversified default exposures beyond corporate default cycles.

Lower Correlations: Returns are tied to the consumer, real estate, and collateral cashflows, not corporate earnings cycles.

Diversified Returns: Illiquidity and complexity premiums generate yield opportunities with limited overlap to traditional credit markets.

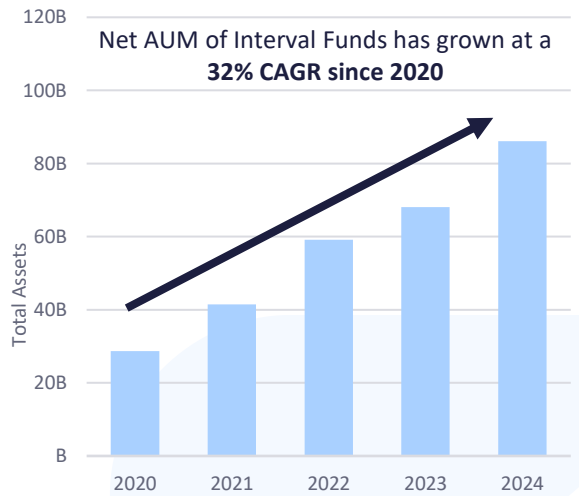

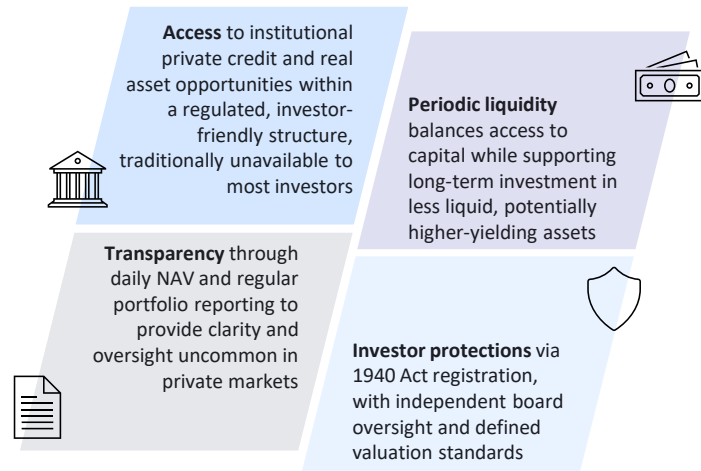

Collateral & Protection: Credit enhancement and secured lending may reduce loss severity vs. unsecured corporates.

Structural Flexibility: Ability to allocate across diversified pools or structure-specific loans with tailored terms, capturing niche opportunities unavailable in corporate credit.

Why Interval Funds?

SGSIX bridges the gap between Mutual Funds and Private Alternatives

Interval funds are generally suitable only for investors who can bear the risks associated with the limited liquidity of the fund and should be viewed as a long-term investment. The Fund intends to provide limited liquidity through quarterly offers to repurchase a limited amount of the Fund's shares (at least 5% of shares outstanding); however, there is no guarantee that an investor will be able to sell all the shares that the investor desires to sell in the repurchase offer.

The Fund will ordinarily declare and pay distributions from its net investment income, if any, once a quarter, and net realized capital gains annually; however, the amount of distributions that the Fund may pay, if any, is uncertain.

The Fund may pay distributions in significant part from sources that may not be available in the future and that are unrelated to the Fund's performance, such as borrowings. Such distributions may constitute a return of capital and reduce a shareholder's adjusted tax basis in Fund shares, thereby increasing the shareholder's potential taxable gain or reducing the potential taxable loss on the sale of Fund shares. To the extent such distributions are a return of capital, the distributions should not be considered the dividend yield or total return of an investment in Fund shares.

The Fund does not intend to list Fund shares on any securities exchange, and the Fund does not expect a secondary market for Fund shares to develop. You should not expect to be able to sell your shares regardless of how the Fund performs. You should consider that you may not have access to the money you invest in Fund shares for an extended period. If a shareholder is able to sell its Common Shares, the shareholder may receive less than its purchase price and the then current NAV per Common Share.

An investment in the Fund is speculative with a substantial risk of loss, and neither the Fund nor the Adviser guarantee any level of return or risk on investments.

There can be no assurance that the Fund's investment objective will be achieved.

The Fund is a closed-end investment company with no history of operations.
